FLORICULTURE

PREFACE TO TWENTY-FIFTH EDITION.

THE rapidly changing conditions of recent times have rendered it exceedingly difficult to keep pace with the large volume of new names and addresses constantly coming to this office. Many firms, especially greenhousemen, have discontinued or partially suspended their regular lines of business and in the strict sense, a considerable proportion should be removed from these lists. The hope of early improvement in the situation, however, has led us to include most of these names under their original classification and we must trust our patrons to exercise care and judgment in using the lists.

We thank the many friends who have helped in the revision work by sending in corrected lists and the hope is again expressed that the trade in all quarters will co-operate with us in our endeavor to make the book in every way as reliable as possible, notifying us promptly of all changes in firm names and addresses, and of additions to land or greenhouse area.

CAUTION—The key letters (see pages 15 and 60) should be closely observed in mailing catalogues, circulars and special letters. A good saving in the cost of such printed matter, as well as postage and time, will be made by giving attention to these directions. In addressing the persons or firms named herein, always use the street names and numbers where they are given. In the absence of street address, make the business of the addressee, as Florist, Seedsman or Nurseryman, part of the address on the envelope or wrapper.

Sweet as honey and with the mingling flavors of pineapple, banana and vanilla this melon originated from the seed of an African strain, planted at Rocky Ford, Colo., and crossed with the GENUINE "ROCKY FORD" canteloupe. Commercial Floriculture in the United States.

(From the Census of 1910.)

THE great increase of the florist business, both in number of establishments and value of products, in the decade from 1889 to 1909, is shown by the preliminary statement of the results of the thirteenth census as regards this industry. The statement was issued June 25 by the Bureau of Census of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the report was prepared under the direction of Le Grand Powers, chief statistician, and John Lee Coulter, special agent for agriculture. The report shows that while there was an appreciable increase in number of establishments, the increase in value of products far outrun this. In other words, while there are more florists, they are better off financially, almost twice as rich, as a whole, in fact.

In 1899 there were 8,797 floral concerns, while in 1909 there were 10,614, or 1,817 more. The products of 1899 amounted to but $18,759,000, against $34,872,000 in 1909. This means an increase of $16,113,000, or 85.9 per cent. The percentage of increase in the number of establishments was 20.7. The greatest increase was in the West South Central Division, and there was also a big jump in the Pacific Division.

Nursery Trade of the United States.

(From the Census of 1910.)

THE number of nursery establishments in 1909, according to the preliminary report of the Census Bureau was 5,582, an increase of 591 or 11.8 per cent in ten years. The value is given at $21,051,000, an increase of $10,927,000 or 107.9 per cent in the same decade. This is a very encouraging fact, as it shows the nurserymen to be coming in for a share of the country's increase in wealth The Middle Atlantic division ranked first and had an increase of 72.6 per cent, which brought the total up to considerably more than four million. However, the greatest increase occurred in the Pacific division, where there was a gain of 377 per cent. In number of establishments the East North Central division led, although falling to fourth in value, not only the Middle Atlantic but the West North Central and Pacific divisions leading it. The greater value of the florist business over the nursery business in the country as a whole was contributed almost entirely by the New England, Middle Atlantic and East North Central divisions. The comparison by divisions and states is shown in the following table:

Seed Growing in the United States.

GRASS SEED AND FLOWER AND VEGETABLE SEEDS.

[Table No. 1. From the Census of 1910].

TABLE No. 1 presents statistics of grass seed and flower and vegetable seeds, by states. As already stated, the acreage from which grass seed and flower and vegetable seeds were raised has not been tabulated. In some cases such acreage was not reported, and in many other cases it would represent a duplication of the acreage reported for hay and forage, flowers and plants, and vegetables. The reported production of flower and vegetable seeds doubtless represents chiefly that of farms producing such seeds for sale, small quantities raised by farmers for their own use presumably being often, if not generally, omitted. Since statements of quantity for all classes of flower and vegetable seeds combined would obviously have no significance, only the total value of these seeds is shown in Table 1. For the country as a whole the value in 1909 was $1,411,000. The most important states in the production of such seeds in 1909 were California, Illinois, New York, and Ohio.

MINOR SEEDS—ACREAGE, PRODUCTION, AND VALUE: 1909.

[Table No. 2. From the Census of 1910].

Table No. 2 shows, for 1909, the acreage, quantity, and value of the minor seeds produced in the United States as a whole and in the states which lead in the production of each kind. Mustard seed is used mainly as a condiment and sunflower seed probably largely for poultry feed, but the other classes of seed are for the most part raised for the purpose of planting.

It is probable that the quantities reported do not represent the entire production of these classes of seeds, as they were not listed by name in the census schedule. The combined acreage of all these classes of seeds in 1909 was only 81,308, and the total value $769,000. Of the total acreage reported, 72,497 were devoted to sorghum cane seed. The quantity produced was reported to be 833,707 bushels, valued at $544,322. Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, and Oklahoma lead in production.

It is believed that in most cases the acreage shown in this table for seeds is separate from and additional to the acreage of the corresponding products, and therefore does not involve duplication.

GRASS SEED—PRODUCTION AND VALUE.

[Table No. 3. From the Census of 1910].

Table No. 3 shows, by geographic divisions, for 1909 and 1899, the total quantity and value of grass seed produced, and also, for 1909, the production and value of the leading classes. The acreage of grass seed is not shown, for the reason that in most cases it would involve duplication of the acreage reported for the grasses themselves under hay and forage crops.

The total value of the grass seed produced in 1909 was $15,138,000, which constitutes 0.3 per cent of the total value of farm crops and represents an increase of 84 per cent over the value in 1899. Much the larger part of the production of grass seed, considered as a group, was reported from the West and East North Central divisions. As measured by value, clover seed is the most important kind of grass seed, followed by timothy and alfalfa. The East North Central division leads in the production of clover seed, the West North Central in that of timothy seed and millet seed, and the Mountain in that of alfalfa seed.

PARK SUPERINTENDENTS.

While nearly all given in this list have the official title of Superintendent there are some who do not. In some cities the curiosities of city government make one of the Park Commissioners Superintendent in fact, while in others the Chairman of the Park Committee of the Council performs the functions of Superintendent. These are given in the list without comment, as they are the men in charge, and are Superintendents in fact if not in name. We have aimed to give only those who are in charge of parks of some little extent and importance.

NURSERIES.—Letter A followed by figure indicates number of acres in nursery. Thus—A. 40, indicates forty acres reported devoted to nurseries.

BLACK FACE TYPE.—Names in black type in state lists undertake to fill telegraph, telephone and mail orders for cut flowers, etc.

Firms That Issue Catalogues.

Below we give a list of American Seedsmen, Florists and Nurserymen; also Seed and Bulb Growers for the wholesale trade, that issue catalogues. The letters at the left of the names indicate the branch of the trade represented in the catalogue, and where more than one letter is used the position of each shows the relative importance in that catalogue of the several branches represented therein. Thus, S. indicates that the catalogue is devoted entirely to seeds and the usual garden supplies found in a seedsman's catalogue. S. F. means that the publishers of the catalogue are both seedsmen and florists, but that more space is devoted to seeds than to plants. F. S. N. indicates that the catalogue covers all three branches and that plants have most space, seeds next, and nursery stock the least. And so on through all the various combinations, S. representing the seed division, F. the florist or ornamental plant division, and N. the nursery stock, or tree and shrub department. Where the catalogue is devoted mainly to one specialty, this is given in parenthesis after the name of the firm issuing it.

All firms that issue catalogues are requested to mail a copy to our Directory Department.

N. B.—Most of those marked S. Gr. or B. Gr. (bulb growers), and F. Gr. do not issue Retail Catalogues.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

ITS ORGANIZATION.

The Society of American Florists was born at Chicago, Ill., on June 19, 1884. Previous to this time there had been no organization of any kind among the florists and gardeners of the country, although many of them were identified with the various horticultural societies and a few were members of the Nurserymen's Association. To a few far seeing individuals it seemed that the florists were numerous enough and their business strong enough to maintain a separate national organization of their own. So in response to a call, about thirty or forty gentlemen assembled in Chicago on the 19th of June, 1884, and there laid the foundations of the Society of American Florists. One of the objects sought to be accomplished by organization was some plan for insurance of glass houses against injury by hail; indeed it is doubtful if the Society had materialized for many years had it not been for this impetus. At the Chicago meeting a preliminary organization was effected and an executive committee met at Pittsburg, Pa., in February, 1885, where the program and other arrangements were prepared for the first annual convention to be held in Cincinnati, O., in the following August.

The society was incorporated by special act of Congress, March 4, 1901.

AMERICAN CARNATION SOCIETY.

The American Carnation Society was organized at Philadelphia, October 15, 1891, with an initial membership of 50. The aims of the Society are as follows: To increase the general interest in the cultivation and use of the carnation; to improve the standard of excellence in the flower; to improve the methods of cultivation and methods of placing it upon the market; to increase its use as a decorative flower; to improve the methods of growing plants and rooted cuttings and marketing the same; to infuse into the grower a more thorough understanding of the general rules of successful business management; to properly supervise nomenclature; to stimulate the growing and introduction of improved seedlings and crosses, by a system of exhibitions and awarding valuable prizes. At the Philadelphia meeting arrangements were made for a general meeting at New York City the following month.

The society has adopted the following scale of points for judging carnations at its exhibitions:

SCALE OF POINTS FOR JUDGING CARNATIONS.

Color	25
Size	20
Calyx	5
Stem	20

To secure a certificate or preliminary certificate a carnation must score eighty-five or more points. In the general classes a score of eighty-five or more will be required to award a carnation first premium. This is made a rule so as to bring and keep the shows up to the highest possible standard.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SOCIETY OF AMERICA.

This society was organized at Buffalo, N. Y., August 22, 1889, under the name of American Chrysanthemum Society, which was changed to Chrysanthemum Society of America at the meeting at St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10, 1893.

The aims of the society are to supervise the dissemination of new varieties, and prevent as far as possible the introduction to commerce of poor or worthless varieties, and to insure correct nomenclature; to stimulate the formation of local chrysanthemum societies; to encourage better methods of culture.

The principal work that the society has so far taken in hand is the revision of nomenclature, a very important matter in view of the fact that the number of seedlings now annually introduced is very large. Before names of chrysanthemums are published in catalogues, or in any way the new varieties are offered for sale, they should be submitted to the secretary of this society to ascertain whether or not such names have been already appropriated. Priority of claim can be established by means of the official register of chrysanthemum names kept by the society. In this way duplication of names is avoided. The society in addition to providing means for the prevention of innocent duplication of names keeps careful watch for other synonyms, and when such are discovered at once points them out to its members and the trade generally.

The meetings of the society were held during the annual conventions of the S. A. F. from 1889 to 1901; in 1902 the first annual convention, with a lengthy programme of important papers, was held at Chicago, November 11-15, with an exhibition in connection with the annual exhibition of the Horticultural Society of Chicago. At the annual meeting in 1894, committees, of three members each, were appointed from the membership at, or near, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati, to be in session in those cities each Saturday during October and November, to judge new varieties submitted to them. The work of these committees has been continued each year to the close of last year under a scale of points which was revised at the Detroit meeting of 1899, as follows:

THE AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.

The idea of holding a Seed Trade Convention originated with those of the trade resident at Rochester, N. Y., who, early in May, 1883, issued a call which was sent to the seedsmen generally throughout the country. As stated in the call, the objects of the Convention were to discuss: 1st. Protection against unjust claims for damages; 2d. Postage on seeds; 3d. Tariff on seeds. The project met with such general favor that no time was lost in calling a meeting, which was held in New York City, June 12, 13 and 14, 1883.

The minutes of the Convention show that when it was called to order, and list of invitations read, thirty-five gentlemen were present and responded, and upon organization R. A. Robbins (Johnson, Robbins & Co.), Wethersfield, Conn., was elected president, and James Y. Murkland (Young & Elliott), New York, secretary and treasurer.

The introductory to the records of the first meeting reads:

"It is hoped that the American Seed Trade Association will become just what it ought to be; what it is intended to be—a national organization. We desire to enroll every worthy seedsman from Maine to California, and respectfully invite you to apply for admission. An annual gathering will induce many to attend, even for the sake of personal contact, and from all points of the compass we hope to see the seedsmen of our land exchange courtesies which may enable them in the future to transact business with greater confidence."

FLORISTS' HAIL ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA.

The Society of American Florists, in their preliminary address to the floris of America, which was issued soon after the first preliminary meeting in Chicag June 19, 1884, included the following: "One of the first intentions of the Soc ety of American Florists is to provide in the best manner, an insurance again loss of glass by hail."

The Society thus having had its inception, subjected itself to provide in th best manner an insurance against loss by hail. Several, if not all, of its origin charter members felt in duty bound to make an attempt to carry out some plan this kind, and of course when that seemed most feasible. It was in this spir that in spite of many objections the Florists' Hail Ass'n was at last organized.

This first definite action which resulted in the organization of this Associa tion was taken by the Society Friday, Aug. 20, 1886, being a close vo of the Society (67 to 55), after full discussion the evening of Aug. 20, 1886, i Horticultural Hall, Philadelphia, when the following committee was appointe by President Craig: J. M. Jordan, St. Louis, Mo., chairman; Henry A. Siebrech New Rochelle, N. Y.; E. G. Hill, Richmond, Ind.; J. G. Esler, Saddle Rive N. J.; J. C. Vaughan, Chicago, Ill.

The committee met in New York City a short time after this, and formulate a plan of organizing, a constitution and by-laws, and in the spring of 1887 th Florists' Hail Association of America was incorporated by an act of the Legis lature of the state of New Jersey.

The first officers were: J. M. Jordan, President; Edwin Lonsdale, Vice President; E. G. Hill, Treasurer, and J. G. Esler, Secretary. Directors: J. I Carmody, J. C. Vaughan, Jas. Horan, B. F. Dorrance, Edwin Lonsdale, Pete Henderson and J. M. Jordan.

From this organization the growth of this Association has been steady, an notwithstanding heavy losses have been paid, all assessments have bee promptly met. The expenses of the organization in the way of salaries, etc., a very light.
